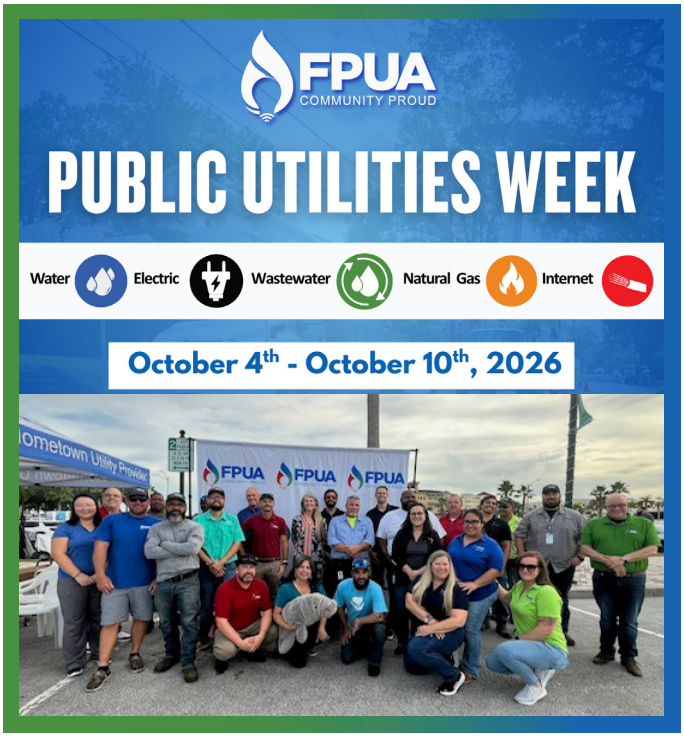
FPUA Customer Connections

October 2026

Celebrating the public utilities that keep our communities flowing, connected, and thriving!



From October 4–10, 2026, FPUA is celebrating Public Utilities Week by bringing three national recognition weeks — Public Power Week, Public Natural Gas Week, and Customer Service Week — together under one roof.

Throughout the celebration we'll recognize the employees, services, and infrastructure that make it possible for FPUA to provide reliable service as your hometown utility.

With five essential utility services, 29 departments, and more than 280 employees, Public Utilities Week is an opportunity to recognize what connects us: the people and teamwork behind the reliable service our customers and community depend on every day.

FPUA Sewer Relocation Project Earns National Recognition with 2026 Utility of the Future Award

For the second consecutive year, FPUA has been named a Utility of the Future Today, a national recognition presented by the Water Environment Federation (WEF) and its program partners honoring water utilities that are advancing how they serve their communities, manage resources and plan for the future. Receiving this recognition two years in a row reflects FPUA's continued work to bring forward-thinking practices home to Fort Pierce.

In 2025, FPUA was recognized for its approach to water reuse. This year, the recognition highlights the community partnerships and engagement behind the mainland Water Reclamation and Reuse Facility.

Together, these awards recognize more than a single project — they reflect how FPUA is approaching the future of water and wastewater service through innovation, responsible resource management and meaningful community involvement.

Utility of the Future Award presented to the FPUA Board by Director of Public Affairs & Sustainability Rachel Tennant on Tuesday, October 6th, 2026.
